V. Presentation: Mathematical Learning for ALL magazine

The overall model of Mathematical Learning for All was shared. Each section was supported with pictures and videos of students talking about and doing math. The math processes video featured students at Mother Teresa Catholic School, in Russell taking part in an integrated math day. A video from Holy Name of Mary Catholic School, in Almonte demonstrated how the use of flexible seating, manipulatives, non-permanent surfaces and students working together allows for students to think deeper about the math they are doing. Finally, students shared their thoughts about growth mindset and how their teacher encourages them to have a growth mindset in mathematics.

Sue Wilson thanked Angela McNamee and the Special Education Department for their hard work on the magazine and how it will help staff and students.
