Week 11 Instructions: English

June 15 – June 19

Hello Grade 7!

June is going so quickly! Thank you for your work evaluating news sources. I'm sorry this isn't marked yet, there were several days last week that I experienced technical issues with the marking in Teams. It has been very slow. I will continue to work through these as quickly as possible. This week we will continue to look at evaluating news sources. I hope you are enjoying The Ickabog as much as I am.

I've broken down this week's activities into the Ketchup, (The background or catch up work you'll need to do or something leftover from last week.) Mustard (The must do work for the week.) and Pickle (You can pick an extra item or more if you have time.) Remember to read for 30 minutes everyday! Check out the virtual library with Mrs. Desrochers!

Ketchup (Catch Up)	Evaluating News Sources View the following two Ted Talks. Write an informative paragraph reflecting on what you have learned about sorting good information from fake news. Submit your work in the Assignments Tab, under student work here and click Turn In. https://www.ted.com/talks/christiane_amanpour_how_to_seek_truth_in_the_era_of_fake_news https://www.ted.com/talks/sinan_aral_how_we_can_protect_ruth_in_the_age_of_misinformation You may post your questions in the Ketchup post.
Mustard (Must Do)	Discuss News Sources Think about what you learned last week about evaluating news sources. Consider news sources that you use regularly. Choose one and write a brief post defending it as a good source or admitting it is not a good source of news. Respond to posts from other classmates (remember you may disagree respectfully).

	Post your comments in the Mustard post.
Pickle (You Pick)	The Ickabog Chapters 29 - Join me in reading and discussing JK Rowlings newest book, The Ickabog, release for free online. State your prediction (explain what you think will happen in upcoming chapters), share figurative language examples that really speak to you, explain connections to books we've read together or other JK Rowlings' novels. New chapters are released daily! Post your comments in the Pickle post.
